

Personal Presentation & Impact Course Card

Personal Presentation & Impact

Course Aims

Personal presentation is all about marketing YOU. What others see you do and hear you say will influence their opinion of you. How people perceive you is important to communication and you should always aim to be viewed as positively and confidently as possible.

In this session we look at the importance of why good personal presentation and hygiene is vital in making a good first impression with future employers. Understand how body language conveys much more than what we say and recognise, the differences in verbal and non-verbal communication, distinguishing its positive or negative impact in the workplace.

By the end of this session, attendees will:

- Understand the importance of your own appearance and of personal presentation techniques such as effective speaking and positive body language.
- Recognise that personal presentation improves personal communication skills and reduces barriers to understanding.
- Gain the skills required in presenting themselves positively in all situations through verbal and non verbal communication
- Make a great first impression

Course Benefits

- Project yourself with confidence either through interviews and or in the workplace
- Enhance your communication skills and raise your confidence.
- Gain a nationally recognised qualification.

Who should attend this Course?
